Description

Hi,

I maintain these two extensions:

Last time I was able to edit them and add new versions (in the new Extension website), but now I don't see any of them listed if I log in and go to "Manage my extensions". Is there any problem with my user rights?

Thank you,
Stanislav

History

#1 - 2020-08-31 10:29 - Florian Effenberger
- Assignee set to Christian Lohmaier

#2 - 2020-10-05 07:34 - Heiko Tietze
- Priority changed from Normal to High
/me-too

#3 - 2020-10-28 09:30 - Stanislav Horáček
Anything new with this? I would like to publish a new version, but it is still not possible.

#4 - 2020-10-29 11:59 - Christian Lohmaier
- Status changed from New to Resolved

sorry for the delay, the extensions are available under your account again now.

#5 - 2020-10-29 22:11 - Stanislav Horáček
Thanks, now I can see the extensions and add new release, but only as a draft - I cannot publish anything, even changes of the general descriptions are not propagated. How is this system supposed to work? There is nothing about publishing in the help [1].

#6 - 2020-10-30 11:45 - Heiko Tietze
My list is still empty.

#7 - 2020-10-31 21:12 - Stanislav Horáček
OK, my new releases are published now (thanks for that!), but I still don't understand the process - am I supposed to ask for that every time here at Redmine?

#8 - 2020-11-05 11:54 - Christian Lohmaier
no - when you edit your extension for a new releast, it gets put into the moderator's queue - unfortunately we have too many fake entries to allow direct publishing yet (need to prepare a group for whitelisting known-good maintainers) - and that list was empty for Heiko - could as well be that someone else moderated the change through before he had a look.
#9 - 2020-11-05 13:11 - Heiko Tietze
Solved for me now. Honor to close is up to Christian.

#10 - 2020-11-25 11:11 - Christian Lohmaier
- Status changed from Resolved to Closed
- Target version set to Q4/2020

closing (cause was vandalism/loophole in permissions)