Infrastructure - Task #3412

Change Bugzilla setting default to CC a user when he modifies a bug

2020-10-23 18:49 - Claudius Ellsel

Status: Rejected  Priority: Normal  Start date:
Assignee: Xisco Fauli Tarazona  Due date:
Category: Bugzilla  % Done: 0%
Target version:
Tags:
URL:

Description
I suggest to change the current default. At least my expectation would be that users want to subscribe when they add a comment to a bug or change other things. Might be debatable, though.

History

#1 - 2020-12-08 13:35 - Sophie Gautier
- Category set to Bugzilla
- Status changed from New to Feedback
- Assignee set to Xisco Fauli Tarazona

Xisco Fauli Tarazona: I fear that this request will generate a lot of noise to those who heavily contribute to BZ, what do you think?

#2 - 2021-05-04 14:25 - Florian Effenberger
Any feedback from your side, Xisco? This ticket is rather old - we should either accept or reject it

#3 - 2021-09-14 12:43 - Xisco Fauli Tarazona
When you create a new bug report, even if you are not in the CC list, you will get notifications, which is expected, but for other actions like writing comments, it's up to the user whether they want to be in the CC list or not, either by selecting the option 'Add me to the CC list' or changing the account preference 'Automatically add me to the CC list of bugs I change'. This decision has always been made by the user and I believe it has to be kept like this, otherwise it might bother many people, specially long time QA contributors or developers. My take is to close it as Rejected

#4 - 2021-12-16 12:16 - Xisco Fauli Tarazona
- Status changed from Feedback to Rejected

No further feedback. Closing